Discover how you can start laying the foundations for your ideal retirement, ready for you to build on in the coming years.

Plan for the future

Think about what you want your retirement to look like.

For example, you may want to buy a new car or go on a once-in-a-lifetime trip. Maybe you'll be helping your children onto the property ladder, or pursuing a new hobby.

Whatever your future might look like, it's time to start thinking about what you want to achieve. The next step will be to figure out how you fund it.

Take action

Review your financial situation and make sure it's working for you.

Gather information about your savings accounts, pensions, life and insurance policies, as well as any debts and regular outgoings.

Once this is done, you can review your current pension contributions to see if they're sufficient, and uncover any opportunities to boost your retirement savings. You can also ensure that your pensions and investments are invested suitably for your needs.

Keep the momentum

Don't let your hard work go to waste. Revisit your plans regularly.

Now you've mapped out a plan for the future, you'll need to review it on a regular basis to make sure it stays relevant and up-to-date.

Think about how often you want to review your retirement plans, whether it's every six months or once a year. Once you've decided, write it down so you don't miss it.
